

Tiger Cub found dead in Kanha

Infighting suspected, last rites held under NTCA protocol

Mandla: Wildlife lovers received another disheartening report from Kanha Tiger Reserve on Monday, when an 11-month-old female tiger cub was found dead in the Nakti Ghati beat of Kanha range. A forest department patrol team, on routine rounds in compartment number 138, spotted pugmarks and bloodstains. Suspicious, the team launched an intensive search and found the cub's body. Senior officials were alerted at once, and on reaching the spot, they cordoned off the area and combed it with the help of a dog squad. Senior Wildlife Health Officer Dr. Sandeep Agrawal and veterinarian Dr. Lalit Chourasia examined the carcass. They found clear marks of injury and struggle with another wild animal, leading officials to suspect the cub died in a fight. Samples have been collected for forensic examination and will be sent to a laboratory to confirm the exact cause of death.

After completing all investigation and documentation, the cub was cremated in strict adherence to the National Tiger Conservation Authority's protocol. Kanha Field Director Ravindra Mani Tripathi, NTCA-nominated representative Shivangi Vendre and other members of the cremation and incineration committee were present.

Young woman dies after jumping into Narmada at Tilwara

Jabalpur: An unidentified young woman died after jumping from the small bridge over the Narmada at Tilwara, as the swift, deep current swallowed her before help could reach her. According to police, the woman, aged around 19 to 20, arrived at the bridge while a few people were bathing near the ghat.

She reportedly shouted that no one should try to save her before jumping into the deep water. Chintu Barman, 38, a boatman from Ghana who works at Tilwara Ghat, was nearby and rushed forward to help.

By the time he reached the spot, she had already drowned. Police arrived soon after being alerted and registered a case of unnatural death. The woman has not yet been identified. Officers are now going through records of recently reported missing girls in neighboring police stations and districts to establish her identity and trace her family.

Wild boar killed using electric wire in Satna, one arrested

Forest officials seize cooked meat after raiding homes

Satna: A wild boar was allegedly killed after hunters laid live electric wires around a farm in Amilia Duduar under the Majhawan forest range of Satna district. Forest officials later raided the suspected hunters' homes and recovered cooked wild boar meat.

Acting on a tip-off, a forest team raided the area while the meat was reportedly being cooked. One suspect, Malgu Kol, was arrested and produced before a court, which sent him to jail. Officials said he named four others allegedly involved in the hunt, including Raju Patel, described as the main planner, Lallu Kol and two others. Meat was also recovered from Lallu Kol's house, while Raju Patel remains absconding.

The incident has raised concerns over the use of dangerous live wires for hunting in farms near forest areas. Local residents alleged that such practices continue because of inadequate patrolling.

The area has faced a serious wildlife poaching incident earlier this year. In the Sarbhanga area, an adult tiger was reportedly killed after coming into contact with live wires allegedly laid to hunt wild boar. Its remains were recovered in July following an investigation.

Patwari held red-handed accepting Bribe

Tehsildar among three booked

Khargone: The Indore Lokayukta police arrested a Patwari red-handed while he accepted Rs 20,000, the first instalment of a Rs 2 lakh bribe, sending shockwaves through the district's revenue department.

According to the Lokayukta, complainant Puneet Nadiwal, a resident of Badi Kasrawad, approached its Indore office with a complaint against Patwari Khum

Singh Dharve. The official had allegedly demanded Rs 2 lakh for mutating agricultural land registered in Nadiwal's wife's name.

After verifying the complaint, the Lokayukta team laid a trap. Late on the previous night, Nadiwal handed the first instalment to Dharve as instructed. A team waiting nearby moved in and caught him near Patidar Medical, opposite Sharda Hospital.

The investigation has since widened. Officials found that the alleged bribery racket was not the work of a single person, with Tehsildar Antarsingh Kanesh and another Patwari, Kuldeep Yadav, also implicated. A case has been registered against all three under various sections of the Prevention of Corruption Act, and further legal action is under way.

Road dispute turns bloody in Sheopur Village, seven injured

Sheopur: A petty argument over crossing a public road spiralled into a violent clash in Janpura village, under the Sheopur rural police station limits, leaving more than half a dozen people injured, women among them. According to reports, the heated exchange between two groups quickly escalated. Both sides confronted each other armed with sticks and iron rods and attacked with ferocity, sending panic through the village. Villagers rushed the injured to Sheopur District Hospital, where they are undergoing treatment. Several suffered serious head and body injuries, and both groups had women among the wounded. A video of the brawl, reportedly filmed live, is now circulating widely on social media. It shows members of both sides brutally beating one another with sticks.

Major action in the Mazgaon Dam Satyagraha

Women leaders dragged into custody, villagers and police clash

Panna: The ongoing protest demanding full compensation and rehabilitation for the Majhgaon Dam project in the Ajaygarh area of Panna district has turned violent. Suddenly, 200 to 250 police personnel from several police stations in Panna district raided the protest site and detained Divya Ahirwar and Hisabi Rajput, who were leading the protest.

A video of this action has surfaced, in which the police are accused of brutally dragging women leaders. Some women were injured in the police lathicharge during the protest, and in anger, villagers surrounded the Hanumantpur police station that night and raised slogans.

According to Ajaygarh police station in-charge Hari Singh Thakur, the arrested Divya Ahirwar and Hisabi

Rajput face several serious criminal charges, including Section 307 (attempt to murder), at the Kishangarh police station in Chhatarpur, and have been absconding for a long time. Police claim that during the arrest, a mob tried to attack the police team to free the accused.

Road stunts have a horrific outcome

● A high-speed bike suddenly lost control and fell near the Rewa-Sidhi tunnel

Rewa: A horrific incident, a blatant violation of road safety, has occurred near the famous tunnel on the Rewa-Sidhi road in Madhya Pradesh. A young man, performing dangerous stunts on a high-speed bike near the Rewa-Sidhi tunnel, suddenly lost control of his bike. The bike tumbled onto the road at high speed, leaving the young man seriously injured.

According to reports, the young man was performing a dangerous stunt on his bike on the main road near the Rewa-Sidhi Tunnel. Suddenly, the speeding bike lost balance and the young man fell heavily onto the road. Following the accident, a large crowd of passersby and locals gathered at the scene. People immediately attended to the injured young man and sent him to the hospital for treatment. A live video of the entire accident is rapidly going viral on social media. The video clearly shows how the young man was risking his own life and the lives of others while performing dangerous stunts on his bike, when suddenly, a momentary lapse resulted in the accident. This incident once again raises serious questions about road safety and the disregard for traffic rules.

Sewage water flows on road, residents face trouble

Indore: Sewage water flowing onto the road has become a major problem for residents of several densely populated colonies behind the Teen Imli Bus Stand in Ward 64.

Residents of Pawar Nagar, Pawan Nagar, Lal Bahadur Shastri Nagar, Chitawad Nagar and Abhinav Nagar say overflowing sewage chambers have left the main road covered with dirty water. Potholes filled with sewage are making it difficult for people to walk and drive through the area.

Residents said the problem has continued for about eight days. They alleged that sewage lines frequently get blocked because of silt buildup and inadequate cleaning of the main line. Although workers sometimes clear the chambers, the problem returns within a few days.

The stagnant sewage has also caused a foul smell and created conditions for mosquitoes and insects to breed. Residents said repeated complaints have not brought a permanent solution.

Worker dies of suffocation in mine, questions raised about safety arrangements

Chhindwara/Parasia: A worker died under suspicious circumstances on Monday night at the Svalghoghri mine in the Koyla Nchal region of Chhindwara district in Madhya Pradesh. The deceased has been identified as Sumer, son of Brijlal. According to preliminary information, his health deteriorated due to a lack of oxygen and inadequate ventilation inside the mine. The incident sparked outrage among the workers, who gathered in the premises and raised slogans.

According to reports, the Svalghoghri mine is located about 10 kilometers from Umreth and is operated by the Birla Group's RC-CPL Private Limited. Sumer was working in the mine's number two pit during the Monday night shift. His health suddenly deteriorated. Reportedly, he experienced difficulty breathing and attempted to stand near a fan inside the mine. He fell to the ground due to dizziness.

Fellow workers immediately pulled him out of the mine using a wheelchair and rushed him to the hospital for treatment, but his condition remained critical. Doctors at the Chhindwara District Hospital declared him dead.

Sheopur to wage village-level war on Gutkha to boost nutrition

Sheopur: Collector Sheela Dahima has directed the health and women and child development departments to work in tandem and take nutrition education to every village, with a special drive to wean women off tobacco-laced gutkha and pudiya.

Awareness drive against tobacco: Chairing a joint review meeting at the Zila Panchayat auditorium, the Collector stressed that schemes must show visible impact on the ground. Street plays and online campaigns will highlight the harm of tobacco, with NRLM, Jan Abhiyan Parishad and voluntary organisations joining in. Tobacco use suppresses appetite and worsens nutrition, particularly in pregnant women, she noted.

She also directed that the Rs 1,500 monthly nutrition grant to Sahariya women heads of household be used for its intended purpose.

No delay in high-risk reporting: The Collector ordered timely reporting of high-risk pregnancies and proper check-ups at camps held on the 9th and 25th of each month. The District Health Officer will be served a show-cause notice if Pradhan Mantri Surakshit Matritva Abhiyan reporting lags.

Reviews and nutrition gardens: Joint block-level meetings must be held within 15 days, followed by monthly district reviews. Every anganwadi will develop a nutrition garden with drumstick, lemon, curry leaf, and creepers such as bottle gourd and beans. Officials were also asked to link more women to self-help groups and to create a joint WhatsApp group for daily field monitoring.
